

Support Urged for Two Anti-Obscenity Bills

By CHARLES E. CHAPEL, Assemblyman, 46th District
The Honorable James Don Keller (usually referred to as Don Keller), District Attorney for San Diego County, in a letter to me dated Feb. 14, 1963, commented favorably on my assembly bills combating obscene materials in these words:

"Dear Charlie:
Thank you very much for sending the copies of your A. B. 3 and A. B. 14 and asking our comments.
We believe that these bills provide a greatly needed answer to the problem of the volume of pornography which is being foisted upon every community and area of our State. The present provisions of Section 311 of the Penal Code, particularly the wording 'and is matter which is utterly without redeeming social importance' make prosecution of this section exceedingly difficult and the possibility of successful prosecution highly questionable, no matter how viciously obscene the matter may be. The proposed legislation would delete this wording.

"I am confident that every legitimate news media and the respectable editors and publishers of the State will lend support to these bills. Certainly there is nothing contained in the bills which encroaches upon freedom of the press under Supreme Court definitions.

"I am sure that the District Attorneys' Association and the Peace Officers' Association will strongly support the bills.

"I hope you have had opportunity to meet the District Attorneys' Association representative in Sacramento. If you are in contact with him, you can tell him that these bills have my fullest approval.
"With every wish for a splendidly successful session. "Sincerely, James Don Keller, District Attorney."

ANY CITIZEN of California can obtain two free copies of any bill by writing to the Legislative Bill Room, Room 215, State Capitol, Sacramento 14, Calif. If you want my two anti-obscenity bills simply say: "Please send two free copies of A. B. 3 by Chapel and A. B. 14 by Chapel, General Session of 1963. There has been such a heavy demand for these bills that you can get the bills much faster if you enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If you want more than two copies of each bill, ask the Legislative Bill Room for the cost of the quantity you want. The price is low because each of these bills is comparatively short. However, if you want a quantity after learning the price, you may have to wait a week or two because when the supply in the bill room is exhausted, additional copies of these bills must be ordered from the State Printer.

Please do not write to me for copies of these bills because my free supply is exhausted. These two bills were killed in 1963 but I shall introduce them again in 1965.

AFTER YOU read the bills, please write to your own member of the Assembly and your own State Senator. If you do not know the name of your own Assemblyman, ask your City Clerk or any other public official in your area. The same applies to the Senator.

If you do not know the room number of your own Assemblyman or State Senator, simply address your card or letter to him, setting forth his name and title and then the words, "State Capitol, Sacramento 14, Calif."

Law in Action

Our Constitution protects us against unlawful trespassers into our homes.
But what about today's electronic eavesdroppers?
They do not fall under our law of trespass. With long range cameras and telescopes, snoopers can look for miles into your windows. And snoopers can pick up talk from afar, or eavesdrop from next door. The laws have few protections against cameras, telescopes and such devices. And their use is widespread both in public and private investigations. Of late electronic listeners have a few more limitations.

TRUE, IN 1934 Congress outlawed telephone wire tapping. But Congress and the courts have not limited other devices, where there is no actual trespass. California has a similar law.

There are many court cases involving someone who concealed a microphone or "bug" on his person to record what he hears. Such recordings are useful for police who can play the recording back in court, since it may be used if one party to a conversation can identify the recording.
In a recent case federal agents had driven a "pike mike" a half inch into a wall to hear a gambler talk. Since the mike stuck into the wall half an inch, the court held that this was trespass, and unlawful intrusion. Since the law forbade this sort of thing, the court would not hear the evidence.

In 1963 California passed laws to protect persons from some abuses of electronic listening devices. It is a crime, for example, to eavesdrop or to record a "confidential communication" between persons.
No court can admit such an eavesdropping or recording in evidence.

BUT WHAT IS "confidential communications?" It is one carried on in such a way that the parties wanted the discussion confided to themselves.

The law still permits a recording for use in court where one party has consented to its use. If someone secretly records his talk face-to-face, the courts are likely to allow it in evidence.

Non-confidential communications such as public speeches, of course, have no such protection.
